Unilin Flooring and The Faus Group have settled their pending patent disputes in the field of laminate flooring

Unilin Flooring and The Faus Group have settled their pending patent disputes in the field of laminate flooring.

A new cross-license agreement will allow Faus to use Unilin glueless locking technology and will allow Unilin to use Faus's surface technologies for laminate flooring. This agreement marks a mutually beneficial conclusion of Unilin's and Faus's pending legal disputes, which include actions in both Europe and North America. Both Unilin and Faus license their respective technologies to a number of major flooring manufacturers.
